

Attorney Mark W. Gemma Named Rhode Island Rising Star 2008

Prestigious distinction is only awarded to 2.5 percent of the attorneys who are nominated.

Providence, RI (PRWEB) February 15, 2009 -- Personal injury lawyer Mark W. Gemma, of Gemma Law Associates, has been named a "2008 Rising Star in Rhode Island" by Super Lawyers publication.

"I'm honored to have received this recognition from my peers for our firm's professional and ethical excellence," said Gemma. "We've worked hard to achieve our professional status, but we've never lost sight of the fact that our first concern here at Gemma Law is our clients and their peace of mind."

Gemma, who is a principal in the Providence law firm, is a member of the Rhode Island and Massachusetts Bar Associations and is licensed to practice in both states. He received a bachelor's degree from Boston College in 1994 and his law degree from Roger Williams School of Law in 1997. He has served as president of the Roger Williams University School of Law Alumni Association

A past president of the Rhode Island Association for Justice, Gemma is also active in the American Association of Justice, serving as the secretary to the Counsel of Presidents and as a state delegate. Gemma has been appointed to the plaintiff's steering committee for the Kugel Mesh Hernia Patch litigation in Rhode Island State Court.

Super Lawyers' selection process uses peer recognition and professional achievement as its main criteria in a points-based scoring system. Only 2.5 percent of those nominated receive the distinction. The 'Rising Star' category includes lawyers who are either 40 and under, or those who have been practicing less than 10 years.
